Life Science Research Board Has First Meeting

The Missouri Life Science Research Board formally met for the first time last week to receive Governor Matt Blunt's vision for the life sciences, learn more about the state of Missouri's life science industry and discuss its general operations and functions.

The board was created by HB 688 in 2003 to manage the Life Science Research Trust Fund, which becomes operational in July when it is to begin receiving 25 percent of all Missouri's master tobacco settlement funds. The fund will be used to improve the quantity and quality of research at Missouri's public and private not-for-profit institutions and to enhance technology transfer and commercialization derived from the state's Centers for Excellence. #### Missouri's Economic Competitiveness Improves in 2005

Missouri ranked 19th in the State Competitiveness Report 2005 recently released by the Beacon Hill Institute at Suffolk University in Boston. The ranking was up one spot from 2004 and five from 2003. Missouri's greatest strengths were found in government/fiscal policy and infrastructure, but weaknesses exist in security and openness to the global economy. Read more...

'Shooting' Begins in Cape Girardeau Next Week

Filmmakers will be in Cape Girardeau for four days starting Jan. 9 to shoot part of the movie "Killshot," which stars Diane Lane, Thomas Jane, Johnny Knoxville, Mickey Rourke, Rosario Dawson and Joseph Gordon. The movie, directed by John Madden, is based on an Elmore Leonard novel about a Detroit couple who are on the lam from a pair of hitmen. The pair land in Cape Girardeau as a part of the witness relocation program. Dozens of locals have been selected as extras for the scenes shot in Cape. Read more...

Landing a New Job in the New Year: Active Job Hunting Tips

Hunting for a job isn't easy. The traditional approach of using newspaper and Internet ads is not only time-consuming, it's reactive because you are applying for a job everyone already knows about. Active job-hunting, on the other hand, means never waiting for a job opening, but using techniques that can land your dream job before it's publicly announced. Here's an active job

Scholarships to Retain Young Citizens in Vermont

In an effort to stop young skilled workers from leaving the state, Vermont Governor James Douglas has proposed the creation of more than 12,000 scholarships to Vermont college students who agree to stay in the state for at least three years after graduation. The 15-year, $175 million Vermont Promise Scholarship program would be funded by an increase in monies from the state's tobacco settlement funds. Based on merit and need, the scholarships would reduce tuition by 25 to 50 percent. Read more...

Akron Invests in Israeli Incubator

Akron, Ohio and area businesses have signed an agreement to invest at least $1 million from the greater Akron area in a high-tech incubator in Netanya, Israel. The Targetech-Akron incubator is believed to be the first partnership of its kind between a U.S. city and a foreign incubator. Under the partnership, new graduates from the Israeli incubator will come to Akron, setting up shop in the city's recently expanded incubator and taking advantage of its high-end manufacturing base and skilled workforce.
